Thanksgiving Day.

Coming as it does in one of the think it has worked satisfactory. The gloomiest months of the year in some respects, it lends a peculiar pleasure to the time. It is more particularly a day gloomiest months of the year in some when men look in retrospect at the year's work and results. Mingled with the joyfulness of thanks for blessings given, comes the reflection of days misspent, and thus all is not mirthful but in some sense tinged with sadness.

The observance of the day has increased from comparatively a small beginning until, what was of yore a custom peculiarly belonging to New England, has come to be a holiday time for the whole country. It is necessary, too, after the care of business, which is so excessive at this season, such a brief surcease of labor is doubly relished. The year which has elapsed since the last day of Thanksgiving, has been in the main one of prosperity and peace in most parts of the country. Yet the terrible wing of the destroying angel has swept with its pestilential trail over one of the fairest portions of our Sanny South, and laid the bravest and the fairest low in the grave. Yet amid the terror and gloom of the epidemic so lately raging, national worth and a nation's kindness were shown in the full to the suffering and poverty-stricken. The North with generous heart has poured out upon the desclated Southland her bounty. Not alone was the gift of money, but the best impulses of the givers warmed the hearts of those who had on many fields steadfastly fought against them. Have we, then, not much to be thankful for in a country drawn more closely together than for long years past, and can we not to-day sit down in happy homes and while feasting thank the Giver of all Good for these and other

What Causes Indian Wars. N. Y. Times.

The causes of Indian wars were, first of all, the non-fulfilment of treaties. Nothing could be worse than the treat ment of the Indians by the United States Government. The Crow reservation was half as large as the United State of New York, and the Indians accepted the lands. These were given should be put through them. Game was scared by the white man's trail and went away when the roads were built. In a short time the miners begin to "prospect," and finding traces of precious metals, pitch their tents within the Indian reservations, and then towns grow up, game is driven off and soon the Government says to the ladians, "You must go." The Indians refuse, and there ensues an Indian war. The frauds of Indian ageuts, Mr. Hoyt said, were a great cause of trouble. The Government promises the Indians provisions. The Indian agent is not sure of his place, and his salary is but from $1,000 to $2,000, and so out of the ludian country till he left he heard Some, of course, were honest, General Miles told him he had seen Indians at the agencies picking up the corn and oats from the ground, while the agents appointed on the recommendations of Christian societies were robwhen he subdued the Bannock Indians it was with a feeling of shame. PESTH, Nov. 27.—Last night, while was entertaining Count Andrassy and Court of Appeals, so that new trials were given to hoth defendants. These new trials resulted in a hung jury in the case of Reynolds, and a verdiet of guilty and sentence of eighteen years in the State Penitentiary in the case of Lee Reynolds, A day or so since the counsel for the defendants presented their petition to Judge Rives, sitting as Circuit Judge, and prayed that he order the defendants to be surrendered to the United States Marshal upon a habeas corpus and that the cases be tried before him in his Court. After hearing the minutes read Judge Rives began to deliver his opinion. He commented elaborately upon the Civil Rights law and upon the humane State law which required jurors to be summoned irrespective of color or race, and which, he said, he adopted in his own Court, intimating that the State Judges, however, were not so careful to regard its provisions. He admitted that it lay in every judge's sound disection to decide who was a competent juror, but he said that a negro had a right to demand to be tried by his peers and that therefore Judge Tredway, Circuit Judge, violated the law of the United States in refusing to award a summons for a special venire to be composed in part at least of negroes, although there was no proof offered in either Court that the white jnrymen were at all prejudiced or incompetent. He then read from the bench his order in the case, and had the same spread upon the records. This order, after, reciting that the negroes had been refused their civil rights in

And still mounted quite rapidly, and in September it was "booming;" just before the close of that month it reached its climax at $270. At this rate the value of the fire making support of life through the winter a hard problem for the settlements which escaped the Indian masacre. A large immigration has crossed the borders of Nebraska and Dakota during the past year, and within these boundaries have staked out their future homes. All over the prairies new roofs are visible and improvements are to be 000,000. This is gambling, indeed, and gambling with tremendous stakes. build up homes and business upon spots which at first seemed a dreary wilderness. Upon these new homes, upon barns full of just harvested wheat, upon stacks of hay, upon patent reapers and mowers, the costly apparatus of modern forming, the prairie fires swept down with appalling velocity. Some estimate of the rapidity of the flames can be made from the fact that a threshing machine actually at work when the fire Beaufort, Judge Eure machine actually at work when the first appeared in the distance had to be abandoned, and the workmen felt they were lucky to escape with their lives and their their teams. Women and children have been burned to death in There is a very full docket, both criminal and civil... Trade is brisk, and to save the catale. Thousands of bush-seems generally satisfactory...... The els of wheat and barley, and tons upon ton; of hay have been consumed. The soil of the prairies is for miles black as ink, and bare as a rock in mid-ocean. At night the wolves were howling around the windows, fierce with hunger for want of their usual prey-the smaller animals of the country who have burned or suffocated in their holes. An early State.... A colored man named Wm. or suffocated in their holes. An early Hazle fell dead while at work yesterday and severe winter is threatened by all signs. Wild geese and ducks have GRANVILLE.—Oxford Torchlight: almost disappeared in their flight toward the South. Heavy frosts cover the ground nightly. What shall be come of the farmers and their families? How is their live stock to be fed? Or must they sell their cattle to buy food for the winter, and thus sacrifice their chief means of cultivating their ground next spring?

Elegant Vehicles.

It begins to be plain that the New York and New England bankers will not be permitted to say what shall and what shall not be legal-tender. The people have elected men to decide what shall be legal-tender in this country, and those men are expected to see that their decision, which is that of the people, is not nullitied. The banks were not elected.

THE proposition to establish a gold standard for India, though under adment in England, has been by no means determined upon, and the time is distant when the change can be brought about. The rumor of such an intention created much consternation in those European countries which stll adhere to the double standard. There is no doubt that silver would be greatly depreciated as the immediate result of the adoption of such a measure.

THE constitutional convention of California has authorized flogging as a punishment, and in doing so won the commendation of many of the leading papers of the State, who hope to see this punishment put a stop to the operations of certain criminals who not only do not regard imprisonment as irksome, but even consider it a blessing, inasmuch as it gives them a comfortable support without work. The farmers, especially, applaud the new law as being calculated to control the desperate gangs of tramps who roam about the coutry refusing to work and threatening people who will not give them food. This class of rascals has set no less than a hundred fires this year in grain-fields, stacks and barns.

MEN's thoughts are tending from ev ery quarter, as in one vast pilgrimage, to the shine of religious liberty. In Free and Established Kirks have joined the cavalcade of religious progress. In England many of the bishops, including the liberal Archbishop, are carrying its standard. The changes which have taken place in English religious thought is evidenced by the recent utterances of Canon Ince, the Regius Profescor of Divinity. This Professorship is of royal foundation and endowment and founded for the preservation of sound faith, according to the teachings of the Established Church. Dr. Ince, in his introductory lecture, reviews some of the religious phases through which his university has passed:

From the Retormation to the middle of the Seventeenth Century, as he shows, the university was given up to the disputes between Roman Catholics and Protestants, or between Calvinists and Armenians. From 1650 to 1750 politics stifled theology. For a while the universities were influenced by the writings of Voltaire and the English Deists. Then came the days of Butler and Paley-"the Age of Evidences." Wesley and Whitfield were ridiculed at Oxford and the term "Methodist" was there first applied to them, in contempt. Six students of St. Edmund Hall were expelled by the Vice Chancellor for their psalm singing, just as Shelley was expelled from University College, for alleged atheism. Criticising the Tractarian movement of 1833, originated by Hurrell Froude, and carried on by Keble, Newman and Pusey, the new Professor of Divinity regards it as merely a reproduction of the thought of the past. The men who figured in the movement, however, were distinguished by self sacrifice, earnestness, modesty, learning and genius, and form in those respects, a striking contrast to the ritualists, who have succeeded them. Once, as he tells us, the Divinity Schools of Oxford were at issue on five points-"predestination, universal redemption, reprobation, irresistible grace and final perseverance." We know how some of these points agitated the souls of Wesley, Whitefild and their followers, just as the last of them continually distressed the mind of Oliver Cromwell. Now, the points which are the articles of 'a standing or a "falling church," in the estimation of the ritualists, are six in number -"incense, lights, vestments, eastward position, wafer bread, mixed chalice." Verily, the thoughts of some men are not "widened with the process of the suns."

The National Legislature assembles on Monday. There will be, doubtless, PAPER SHELLS, a sharp struggle over the silver question and other matters relating to the currency, which have no bearing on resumption, and on maintaining a specie basis afterward. So far, Secretary Sherman has not expressed clear ideas as to how far silver is or not to be used in specie payments. He uses the word "at all times and discriminately, although there is a great difference in the intrinsic or market value of coined silver and gold. This fact seems to embarrass him. Still he may in his report to Congress be explicit and tell us how far he proposes silver to be used. It is probably that a majority of Congress, or of the House, at least, will insist upon the largest silver coinage and circulation practicable. The people generally in the interior, and particularly in the West and South, call for this. On the other hand, the capitalists and bankers want to limit silver coinage and circulation as much as possible. How will Mr. Sherman steer between these conflicting opinions? The national banks will probably be thoroughly overhauled, though, perhaps, he will shield them in his plan of resumption. The whole burden of resuming and maintaining specié payments is assumed by the Government, and the banks are to be required only to redeem their notes in legal-tenders. Their part in the work is very easy. If Congress should act in accordance with public sentiment, these institutions will either be deprived of their enormous privileges or be compelled to give to the Government and people some equivalent for them.

Death of Hon, B. F. Moore.

At the hour of 2 p. m. yesterday Hon. B. F. Moore died. He had been for more than a year confined to his home, his bodily powers having failed. He relinquished all business matters and in the quiet of home, undistracted by the cares of life, sank slowly to rest. He was attacked by no disease and death was but the result of gradually failing powers. He suffered no pain but the senses one by one grew weaker, unti', perfectly conscious to the last, the lamp of his life went out.

Bartholomew Figures Moore was the son of James Moore, a soldier of the Revolution, who at the close of that war settled in the county of Halifax in this State, and was born in January 1801. He received a good academic education, being prepared by Mr. John Bobbitt, who was principal of a school at or near Louisburg. He joined the University at Chapel Hill, whence he was graduated in the year 1821, with some distinction, at the the age of 20. After leaving the University he studied law with Hon. Thos Mann, of Nash Co. After being admitted to practice by the Supreme Court, he settled in the town of Nashville. In the year 1828 he took his first step n political life, becoming a candidate for the House of Commons and canvassing the county. It was at the time when the three candidates for the Presidency of the U. S. were General Jackson, Adams, and Crawford of Georgia, Mr. Moore was an ardent supporter of the last named candidate.

From Nashville he removed to the county of Halifax, settling near the town of Halifax, about 1833. In 1835 he was elected a member of the Legislature from that county and took a leading Scotland the leading minds, both in the part in the revisal of the laws, known as the Revised Statutes. He was then elected to the House for several years. In 1848 he was appointed Attorney-General by Governor Graham, to fill a vacancy in that office. He then removed to the city, which was ever since his home. He was elected by the Legislature of 1848-'49 to succeed Edwin Stanly, to fill out whose term he had been before appointed. He served as Attorney-General until 1851, when he resigned. In the next year he was appointed one of a committee of eminent legal gentlemen to revise the Statute law of the State. His associates in this work were Hon. Asa Biggs and Judge R. M. Saunders. They prepared the revision in an able manner. and submitted their work to the Legislature of 1854-'55, which adopted it. It was regarded as being in all respects excellent.

Mr. Moore held office thrice again during his life, being one of the Commissioners to adjust the State debt, in 1861, just prior to the beginning of the war. In 1865 he was elected a member of the Constitutional Convention and in 1866 to the lower branch of the Legislature. He took a prominent part in the deliberations and debates of both, as well as in all matters of State importance after the war. He used untiring and earnest efforts for pacification and readjustment of the difficulties which then closed thick upon us. Mr. Moore was liberal in his views, and was in all matters of law held as high authority, and his advice was much sought after. At the concluof his official work he devoted himself to the practice of his profession, which was very large and remumerative. Soon after the war he associated with him in his practice Maj. John Gatling, his son-in-law. He always devoted himself to his legal business and possessed one of the finest legal minds in the country. In the death of Mr. Moore his State loses a man of whose memory she may well be proud.

To devise a uniform system according to which the militia (or volunteers) nay be taught, organized, and made, what in every free State they would be, cheap defence against disorder withn, and in case of war, easily made into an efficient weapon against attacks from without; such is one of the prime bjects of the efforts to be made at as session of Congress. As auxiliary o this, it might be well to relieve the ongressmen of the responsibility of appointing cadets to West Point (a reconsibility they now generally shirk, ling back on "competitive examinaons'), and instead of the present sysm, to offer to the State military chools the appointments of cadets in their States, the highest graduates the State schools receiving as a matr of right the appointments. Thus d be winnowed the material and is could best be removed the chief if not the only reproach now justly made against the United States Military Academy, that of the low grade of attainment of the men of the entering class, a reproach lately made in strong terms by the Board of Visitors of the Academy in their report to the Secre-

Deaths in Durham, Correspondence of the News.

The past week left a pall of gloom hanging o'er the hearts and homes of families in our town, by the death of four cherished little ones. In the early part of the week, Mr. John Rigsost a child; a few days later, Mr. Pea lost one, and on Saturday, within twelve hours, Col. Webb lost two little sons, aged about 3 and 5 years. The rief stricken families have the heartt sympaty of our entire community. y God grant them consolation in the blessed hope of a happy and everlasting re-union in the "Sweet By and By." Mrs. W. H. Hanks, after a lingering illness, departed this life on Monday last. Deceased was about 30 years of age. She leaves a devoted husband and numerous family connections and friends to mourn her early death. May a kind Providence comfort rhe bereaved in this hour of sore distress.

-0.0 Mean Minnesota.

The jibes and derision of persons whodo not enjoy the pleasure of living in Minnesota have no effect in inducing the people who do enjoy that felicity to relieve that State of the odium of repudiating its debts. The most artfullycontrived devices by which payment is made easy, such as donations of land. the issue of long-running bonds and such other traps by means of which the ordinary debtor is inveigled into honesty, do not tempt the stubborn Minnesotian into even a spasm of conscience. The State is prosperous. It has made money out of the investments it is asked to pay for, or partly pay for. Yet it elds stubbornly to its advantage. It cannot be made to pay, and, therefore, it will not pay. This is undoubtedly the meanest case of repudiation which has disgraced the history of any State in the Union.

The first vessel will leave this port next week, and hereafter, until March, two vessels weekly will leave for Liverpool, and vice versa. In March the line will be increased by six vessels, making a fleet of thirteen. After that month the steamers will leave port tri-weekly. They are intended entirely for freight service, and it is anticipated that the line will give a great intended entirely for the line will give a great intended entirely for freight service, and it is anticipated that the line will give a great impetus to the export trade not only of Philadelphia, but of Western

The Search for Dead Stewart. The search for the despoilers of A. T. Stewart's grave is at a complete stand-still, and the police officials sadly shake their heads, when asked if they have any new clews, and answer "No." The detectives have not the least information as to who committed the deed, or where the body now is, and the whole affair is apparently an unfathomable mystery. Every trail heretofore discovered has been followed up and resulted in simply nothing. The detectives are losing faith in the theory of the burial of the body in Jersey. It is now hinted that possibly the body may have been shipped to Europe.

Troops have been sent to the Umatilla reservation. Oregon, as many In dians are reported leaving. WALTON S. PEARSON,

GURE FOR SCROFULA.

A BRIEF HISTORY:

The following is from the Raleigh News, and was a voluntary insertion and not an advertisement: and was a voluntary insertion and not an advertisement:

"Years ago an old Indian left a receipt for curing Scrotula with Mrs Person's father. Mrs. Person lives in Franklinton, or in that section. A child was born to Mrs. Person, and it had the Scrotula. The doctors gave it up to die. She thought of that receipt, that was now old and musty, and hid away in an upstairs drawer. She concluded if the child was bound to die, it wouldn't hurt to follow that receipt. She went out and gathered the herb, got the whiskey, and did as directed to the child. Her child now lives, well and hearty. More than this: Only a few months since a South Carolinnan, whose name has slipped us, was suffering with some scrotulous affection on the heel. He had been to the Hot Springs In Arkansas, and from there he went to Kittrell Springs. Nothing did him any good. At Kittrell's they told him of Mrs. Person's recipe, and Dr.— wrote to Mrs. Person's recipe. And Dr.— wrote to Mrs. Person if she cured that South Carolinian sent her word if she cured him he would give her five hundred dollars. She sent him directions what to do, and added if they cured him he could send her twenty-five dollars; she wouldn't ask five hundred. The South Carolinian went home, and shortly afterward sent bars. Person a check for twenty-five dollars, and wrote the most grateful letter he knew how. Biess these old Indians. We would like to nave one for a near neighbor."

UNEQUALLED AS A BLOOD PURIFIER.

MRS. JOE PERSON : MRS. JOE PERSON:

The medicine I purchased of you last winter proved of lasting cenefit to my son, who was troubled with 27 running sores, some of them quite large, and of a serofulous nature. In less than three weeks after commencing the use of your remedy, he was perfectly restored, and is to-day quite sound and healtoy. As a Tonic And Blood Purifier it has no equal. Hoping that you may be spared for many years of usefulness, i remain, Very respectfully.

MOORESVILLE, IREDE: L.Co., N. C. Feing desirous of adding my testimonial to others, concerning the merits of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy for Scrofula, I take pleasure in saying that as a tonic and alterative I do not think it has an equal. I have marrly tested it, and after trying Vegetine. Sarsaparilla, Vinegar Bitters, and various other remedies, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it far superior to any IONIC I have ever used. When I commenced using Mrs Person's Remedy I was very weak. complection sallow, and now I am WELL, Respectfully your friend.

> Dear Madame—Your letter has been received, and on account of being absent from home for a week or two, have not had the opportunity to answer it. I certainly will take great pleasure in doing all that is within my power towards getting you patients for treatment of Scrowla. I hardly know how to express my gratitude to you for chaing my three little children. They took mealieine from my family physician for about two years, with scarcely any relief at all. I tried your remedy, and in less than three weeks they were all perfectly cured, and have never shown any sign of breaking out again. I feel very thankful to you, I can sately say that I believe your lemedy to be a certain cure for Scrofula. If I can ever be of any service to you in any way, I want you to be sure and call on me, Yours truly,

FAYETTI VILLE, N. C., Aug. 12, 18.8.

MRS. JOE FERSON:
Dear Madam—I have been using your Remedy for scrofula over five mouths as an experiment for cancer. The cancer is of long standing, the doctors have been treating it, more or less, for twelve years, it has taken off my uper lip and a good part of my nose. When I began to use your Remedy it was growing rapidly worse, but the medicine seemed to check it very soon, and it has not made much progress since, except about two months ago, the medicine gave out, and I was without several days. IS HE THE FIEND?

A Suspected Rapist Arrested --A Negro Assaulter.

Some days past a rape was committed upon a small white girl, near Princeton, Johnston county. In the description given by the child the man who committed the crime was suspected to be a negro named Crum Atkinson, who had just left the county. Search was made for him, but this was unavailing until yesterday morning. It was thought that the man was in this city, and Tuesday evening William Richardson, Esq., a magistrate of Johnston county, came up and gave the police a description of the negro. The orce was put on the track and yesterday the suspected man was arrested in Oberlin Village, by officers Lincke and Thompson. He was carried back to Johnston by the Magistrate. Attkinson, who while here assumed the name of Cary, is a very black negro, he possessor of a bad set of features.

He denies all knowledge of the crime. Atkinson's wife lived in Oberlin, but ne went off in all directions, in search of work. He bears a terribly bad name among the negroes, who fear him, and his wife would not admit him in her house. He was at work for a gentleman in Oberlin, and was sleeping in a fodder stack when captured. The offi-cers deserve special credit for the arrest. Atkinson is wanted in Wayne county, and there is a charge against him of burglary. The girl he assaulted is terribly injured, having received several knife stabs.

Board of State Canvassers.

The Board of State Canvassers, which is composed of the following officers: The Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney-General and State Senators Everett, of Forsythe, and Waddell, of Johnston, meets to day in the Hall of the House of Commons, as required by law. It will at once adjourn, on account of its being Thanksgiving day, until to-morrow, when the vote of the districts for the various members of Congress will be canvassed and the returns carefully compared. The session will be specially interesting by reason of the fact that in two districts, the election is contested, and there will doubless be many present to witness the count.

A Sad Accident.

Mr. John P. Haywood: of this city, has a farm upon the banks of the Roanoke. Thither he went a few days ago. On Saturday he went on a hunt for wild turkeys, and while crossing the river Roanoke, was attacked with paraysis and fell in the stream. He was in the water for many hours, being perfectly helpless, and was not rescued until in the evening by some persons in a boat. He had floated miles down the river. These particulars of the sad is now lying at his plantation, in a plaints. dangerous condition.

The New Stock Speculations.

The new combination of operating in stocks which Mesers. Lawrence & Co., Bankers N. Y., have inaugurated, is attracting unusual attention in financial circles, by respect to the remarkable success. B. F. Comttock. of Providence, invested nine times and made over $5.000 in three months, by using from $50 to $00 capital. By this system, orders from thousands of customers in various sums are pooled into one immense capital, and operated as a mighty whole, thus giving to each shareholder all the advantages of vast capital and shrewdest skill. Proits are civided every 30 days. Any amount from $10 to $75,000 can be used in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations with equal proportionate success. $15 will make $75 profit in the month. $200 will return $1,600 or 8 per cent, on the stock, and so on The New Stock Speculations. $75 profit in the month. $200 will return $1,6% or 8 per cent. on the stock, and so on as the market varies. The new circular gives 'two unerring rules for success," and shows how any one can operate profitably. Mailed free, Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied.
